“ He was more like my father than my Uncle. He always had a joke to tell. I spent my summers with him and after I became an adult we would vacation together time to time. Showing me around this world would lighten up his face. I based finding a good man on living up to the man my Uncle Bones was. I never found that man. At 55 I'm still single. He would give you the shirt off his back. When we would go somewhere he always said Ruby would like this, Cara Mae would love that. He would buy so many presents to bring back home with him sometimes it would fill the trunk of the car. Rest in Peace my dear Uncle. I'll see you again.

When I worked at the Old Dominion Drug Store in 1963 Bones came into the store a lot. He was so interesting and funny. Years and years later I ran into him at a Bluegrass festival. I can't remember if it was Doyle Lawson's festival in N.C. but I believe it was. We chatted several times during the weekend. It was so nice to see someone from back home. My heart goes out to his family. I know he will be missed very much. Bonnie/Cookie (Pope) Scruggs
